A Day at the Bank

Sara has some money.

She wants to keep it safe.

She goes to the bank near her house.

She sees a man at the desk.

“Hello,” says Sara. “I want to open a bank account.”

The man smiles. “Yes, of course. Please show me your ID.”

Sara gives her passport.

She writes her name and signs a form.

The man gives her a bank card.

Sara is happy.

Now, she can put money in the bank.

She can use the card to take money out.

Sara says, “Thank you!” and goes home.
